TESTIMONY AS TO THE KILLING.

The evidence thus far produced at the trial of Sickes presents a strong illustration of the exceeding fallibrity and uncertainty of human testimony as to all events of sudden occurrence and brief duration, and that, too, even though they may be of a character calculated to attract, in the highest degree, the attention of the witnesses and to make the strongest impression on the memory. There seems to be no ground whatever for supposing that the testimory of either of the witnesses was warped by any secret bias, or that they desired to give any other impressions than those they had themselves derived from their observations on the occasion; and yet they contradict each other in the most positive manner. The first w tress produced, Mr. James H. Reed.

would seem to have had an excellent opportunity to observe the whole transaction, to have watched it closely, and to have recollected it minutely According to his account there was no tussle or scuille, nor did the parties at any time seize or touch each other. He was closely exammed as to this point, was very clear about it, and thought it impossible that anything of the kind could have occurred and be not have seen it. He represents the first firing as having taken place in from seven to twelve seconds after his attention was attracted to the parties, from which he was distant some thirty-five paces. Sickles raised his pistol deliberately, as if taking aim-which he had begun to do when the witness first observed him-and fired within two or three seconds after bringing it to a level. This witness represents the parties as at that time from four to six feet spart. Key seemed to be twisting himself, as if to to dodge the shot, but did not move more than a foot or two. After the first shot (which took but slight if any effect). Sickles, according to this witness, moved back some eighteen or twenty feet, followed by Key, but before reaching within three or four feet of Sickles, Key, in his turn, retreated and got behind a tree shouting "Murder." Sickles, when within five feet of Key, still behind the tree, attempted to fire again, but his pistol snapped. whereupon he fell back a little, followed by Key, std by the time they had reached the middle of the street, the distance between them had increased to ten feet. At this instant Key threw something (his opera glass, it would seem,) which appeared to strike Sickles and fall at his feet; Sickles, at the same instant this article was thrown at him, discharged his pistol the second, time, which now took effect. Key ran over to the sidewalk and fell on his side with his face toward Sickles, who followed him up, and when within two or three feet, Key then supporting himself with one hand and crying out "don't shoot," fired at him a third time. After this Sickles made two other attempts to fire, but both times the pistol

If this description of the occurrence be taken as correct, it would seem that Sickles's first shot was made with his single barreled Derringer pistol. which having failed, he dropped it-it was picked up just about the spot at which he stood when he fired first -- and fell back, while getting his revolver ready, followed up by Key; and that when Key saw him armed with this second weapon, he fled in his turn and took refuge behind the tree.

On the other hand, Joseph Dudrow, who also witnessed the commencement of the affair, represents the first fire as being preceded by a scuille for a minute or two, and as not taking place till Sickles had first retired before Key and then again had advanced upon him. Eugene Pendleton represents a scuffle as baving followed the first fire. Sickles, he says, succeeded in freeing himself from Key, retired, and was followed up by him, upon which the second shot was fired. Edward Delafield represents Key, when behind the tree, as having got hole of Sickles's right hand, who, however, him off, and then fixed, inflicting the wound which brought Key to the ground.

The account given by the first witness, as it is the most minute and particular, is probably the correct one. The discrepancies in the testimony, though they might have been of the highest importance had the killing originated in a sudden quarrel on the spot, are not, under the actual circumstances of the case, of any consequence. All the witnesses agree as to the number of shots fired, and it seems equally clear that three others were attempted without success. Whatever other justi fication Mr. Sickles may make out, there does not appear to have been anything in the occurrence to give any opportunity for setting up the plea of self-

ITST A WORD.

Next week will probably witness the adjournment of our Legislature; and we believe there is no remaining danger that a Registry Law will not be perfected. We only fear that it may be, on the one hand, too cumbrous and expensive, or on the other so lax as not who ly to prevent Illegal Voting. The Assembly bill needs amendment; but we have as jet seen no other that we prefer to it. At all events, let us have a Registry.

And then, do not let the illegal Liquor Traffic escape an overhauling. We ask nothing altra or fanat cal; but we do ask that the systematic, wholesale defiance of the restrictive features of the present act be thoroughly, decisively dealt with. The law now says that Alcoholic Liquors shall not be sold on the Sabbath nor on Election days: that Liceases shall only be granted to persons possessing certain qualifications and to them only on the petition of a certain number of freeholders, and that the unlicensed must quit selling or be made to quit Now we ask the Legislature to take care that these inhibitions do not remain a dead letter, but that they be thoroughly enforced and obeyed. Is this asking too much !

GAS.

There is general, and we think just, complaint in our City that the people are exorbitantly charged for Gas, by the two Companies which possess a monopoly of our Streets for the purpose of supplying this article to purchasing consumers. The egislature has been appealed to on the subject, and two (or more) bills have been presented, one of which, we perceive, has been ground through the Assembly. We are convinced that this is a bogus concern-that its parade of restrictions on the Compantes is theatrical and make-believe-in short, that the bill will prove in practice worse than nothing.

mately by those Companies) will answer as purpose but that of throwing dust in the eyes of consumers. In short, we beg the Legislature, if it can do the consumers no good, to do nothing at all in the premises. Let this bill die the death of the humbus, and let us consider, betwirt this time and next Winter, what sort of a bill will really protect the consumers of Gas from imposition.

The Republicans of MICHIGAN were warned to beware of passing a Registry Law-that it would be resented as an invasion of popular rights -as a fresh proof that the opponents of the Democratic party were always trying to fetter and diminish voting by the poor. The Republicans listened to all these dismal croakings, then answered in substance: "We cannot always see what is expedient, "but we do know what is right-know that a Registry Act is needed, and will correct some glaring abuses; so we will pass one, and take the responsibility." And they did.

Their State Election, held on the morrow of this elamor, dispels all these dismal forebodings. The Republican majority was never before so large in a State Election as on Monday in MICHIGAN.

Let the lesson be heeded and felt.

Will the gentlemen who own "the Whig General 'Committee' in this City allow us to see the letter of the Hon. EDWARD BATES of Missouri, which (The Express states) was read at their last meeting? Mr. Bates is widely known and esteemed as genuine "Old Line Whig," whose views will be read by thousands with lively interest. We had not before heard for years of his writing a political letter, and we should like to print tais one. Why is it suppressed! Will The Express let us know! We do not ask The Express to print, but to let we

From Washington.

Special Dispatch to The N. Y. Tribune. WASHINGTON, Friday, April 8, 1859. As an inducement for the Post-Office contractors to continue the transportation of the mails as heretofore, the President has agreed to recommend the payment of interest on suspended claims. Tue settled policy of the Government has been not to pay such interest, except in rare cases. This departure from the established rule will put some very good business into the hands of the lobby, which suffered somewhat in their operations last Winter.

Lord Lyons, the new British Minister, called at the State Department this morning, to pay his respects. He will be officially presented to the President on Monday next. Lord Napier looks quite sad.

Considerable distrust is now expressed in some quarters as to the Paragusy news, which is being regarded as a complete surrender to Lopez-that is, if the reported settlement be true. This was an unlooked for result, after such a vast expenditure in equipping the expedition. The President, however, believes it, but he has no positive information.

The PROPOSED CONGRESS THE PROPOSED CONGRES

A dispatch from Vienna states that Austria on the 23d agreed to the proposed Congress, and it would probably meet at Aux is Chapele. All the other Powers had previously given their consent. A Paris letter in the Nord states that the Sardinian Capital has been in the Nord states that the Sardinian Capital has been stated in the Nord states that the Sardinian Capital has been seen as the sardinian capital h addressed a communication to the five Great Powers, strongly insisting on being allowed to take part in the dehierations on the affairs of Italy; and a Paris correspot dut of The London Post says that, in conse-quence of the representations made by Count Cavour, the French Government consents that Field not and other Italian States shall be represented at the Conoffer trains stated that Austria cone-nted to a Con-gress under certain conditions, but that they are not of nuch importance. It is supposed that she would, as a matter of course, insist on a strict maintenance of the treaties of ISLS, but that she will hardly object to a re-vision of her special treates with the Italian States. The French journals assume that Lord Cowley's mission to Vicura has had nothing to do with the Cengress, and they credit Russia with the proposition. The London Scar believes that Lord Mallacebury has been appointed to represent England in the Congress. Prince Napeleon has personally insisted upon the admission of Piedmont into the Congress, and had remission of Piedmont into the Congress, and had represented to the Emperor that, in the event of Pietmont not being semited, Count Cavour would resign. The Prince previously announced his admission into the Congress, but in that event admission could not be refused to Tuscany, the Passal Government, and the Dachy of Parma: Naples and Modera being naturally excluded—Naples on account of the interruption of her international relations, and Modena because it has never recognized the Imperial Governmert. The Pairie, this evening, states that the Cabine's of London and St. Peter-burg bave agreed to the proposal of France to admit Piedmont, and there is hope that the Cabinet of Berlin may also consent, in which event Austria cannot resist the wish of the great powers. the great powers.

GREAT BRITAIN.

On the 34th, in the House of Commons, the debate was continued on the Reform Question, the House being crowded to excess, while the excitement outside was undiminished. Speeches in opposition to the Government bill were made by Miluer A. Gibson, Bernal Osborne, Mr. Walpole, Mr. Bight, &c., walls it was supported by Messis. Adderly, B. Hope, and others. The debate was further adjourned.

On the 25th, in the House of Lords, the Earl of Ellenburough called attention to the state of the Indian finances. The Earl of Derby admitted that the aspect of Indian finances were very gluony. He explained the mode by which the Governor-General proposed to meet the difficulties, viz. by a five per cent loas, by meet the difficulties, viz: by a five per cent loan, by slightly increasing the duty on imports by a stamp duty, and by a duty on home grown tobacco. In addition to these efforts in India, Her Majesty's Govern mett would this session have to ask Pariament for power to increase the already proposed loan of seven millions to ten millions, and perhaps to twelve millions Starling.

The Liberal journals of to-day declare that Lord Palmeraton's speech has saved the Ministry, as he proclaimed that he should vote for the second reading of the Government Reform bill, as well as for Lord John Russell's resolution, merely regarding the latter as instructions for the amendment of the hi mittee. The Daily News says, as a party move the interest in the debate is at an end. The Star says, that Lord Palmerston has cheated the country out of a liberal reform measure, and completely turned the tables on Lord John Russell.

This movement, at the present inneutre, is regarded as an indication on the side of peace.

FRANCE.

It is asserted that Pince Napoleon will represent France at the proposed Congress. The Times Paris Correspondent says that notwithstanding the warlike sentimen's attributed to Prince Napoleon, be has very recently written to Turin, exherting Count Cavour to calm the effervescence of the Piedmon ese, and recommending a panitic solution instead of an appeal to sims. According to the new Gazette of Russia, the Emperor Napoleon has on several occasions lately recommended Count Cavour bot to excite te war, assuring him that in no case would France go beyond recommenced Count Cavour not to excite te war, as-suring him that in no case would France go beyond the limits of her engagement. Count Cavour arrived in Paris on the 24th. It is stated that 400,000 muskets on an improved model are being made for the French army. GERMANY.

The Grand Ducky of Beden is making warlike pre-parations with the exception of Bayarra, Wurken-berg, Hanover, Baden, and Electoral Hesse. The other States of the German Confederation, and parti-cularly those of the North, appear to have determined on waiting for the impulse which may be given to them by Pruseia, before taking any military measure.

In the Chamber of Deputies, a call having been made or the production of the papers relative to the necessarious between the United States, France and Ragiand, for the acquisition of Cuba by America. The Minister of Foreign Affairs replied that some Deputies had expressed a desire to see the administration of Cuba improved, and the President of the United States. expressed the same wish. The opinion of the Precises was that Spein old not administer Caba well, and that the United States, on account of their higner intelsgence, had a moral duty to fulfil, which was to purchase the islanc. The Government could not allow this idea about Cubs to remain uncontrastices. All Governments had labored to improve the coulding of that island, and the present Cabicet had been ca-stantly occupied with measures on culated to give the inhabitants of the island the share trey ought to possess in their interval administration, wi nout compromising the tice which unite them to the mother country. The best reply to the representations of certain orators of the United States was the prespectly of the saland of Cuba. That the question of the acquisition of the island was imposing and mensing could the island of Cuba. That the question of the acquis-tion of the island was imposing and menacing could not be deried. Nevertheless, the Government de-clared that it feit all the security which its great na-tional resources were calculated to inspire. It had not however, rendered insult for insult, as that would probably have aggravated the question. It had con-tinued discipling in rendered and climity, and had not ducted itself with produces and cleanty, and had not applied for assistance to any other power. It say foreign power had effered assistance the Government would have felt gratefol; but it would not have accepted of it, because it did not think any aid was accepted of it, because it did not think any aid was accessary. As no diplomatic documents existed on two question—which, bappily—was almost terminated—the Government hoped M. Badia would be satisfied with the explanations given, and witheraw the motion,
